Introduction

Thank you for purchasing the Atomos Shogun 7, utilizing professional QuadLink SDI and HDMI 2.0 connectivity to record professional 4Kp60 and high frame rate HD to Apple ProRes®, ProRes RAW and Avid DNxHR (plus CDNG RAW up to 4Kp30).

A new 360 zone backlight is combined with our new screen technology and controlled by the Dynamic AtomHDR engine to show millions of shades of brightness and color, yielding jaw-dropping results. It allows Shogun 7 to display 15+ stops of real dynamic range on-screen. The panel is also incredibly accurate, with ultra-wide color and 105% of DCI-P3 coverage.

Shogun 7 can also be used as a portable, quadview live switcher and recorder on multi-camera shoots. Record up to four 1080p60 streams from the 4 x SDI inputs simultaneously as separate ISOs, while cueing and switching in real-time. You can also record a fifth 'program' channel of the switched feed, and display the resulting mixed output (via HDMI or SDI) live on set.

Checklist

You will also need

HDMI Cable/s

To support 4Kp60 recording please use cables that support HDMI 2.0 specification. Atomos have a range of 4Kp60 cables with die cast connectors and coiled cables in a range of lengths and connections (sold separately). See the full range of Atomos HDMI cables on our website: www.atomos.com/hdmi-cables

You will also need

SDI cables

If you are connecting via 6G or 12G SDI please ensure your cable supports the Belden 1694A standard.

Media and Docking Station

Shogun 7 supports AtomX SSDmini, approved SSD media in a Master Caddy II/III, and CFast II media in an AtomX CFast adapter. To avoid potential data loss and/or write/read errors, Atomos recommends using approved media only. For the most up-to-date information on compatible media, please refer to: www.atomos.com/drives

We also have Docking Stations suitable for use with Shogun 7 and compatible media. Available from your nearest authorised Atomos reseller.

Power

Using AC/DC Power Adaptor or Batteries

You can power the Shogun 7 using the supplied AC/DC power adaptor, but if you plan to use batteries we recommend you fully charge any batteries before use.

Choosing the right battery for your application

Size	Cells	Battery Life	Function
5200mAh	4	Up to 1.5hrs	monitor & record 4Kp30
7800mAh	6	Up to 2.2hrs	monitor & record 4Kp30

❗ We recommend using Atomos NP-F series batteries.

Media

Assemble the Master Caddy

Position a Solid State Drive (SSD) into the Master Caddy. Assemble completely and align screw holes on all three pieces. Insert screws last. Do not overtighten. For more detailed instructions please download the full Shogun 7 User Manual.

ⓘ Handle SSD with care

Avoid contact with circuit board and connectors. Refer to media manufacturer's manual for handling instructions.

Connect Media

Before powering up the Shogun 7 unit, simply slide your selected media into the disk slot (see page 7). To remove media, ensure the unit is off and gently slide out. We strongly recommend using SSDs for optimal performance and recording.

Format Media

Once your media is inserted into the master caddy, attach to the Shogun 7 and format the media by touching the Media/Recording Time Remaining in top right of screen (see page 8).

Press Format Drive and follow the on-screen instructions. For more information refer to the Shogun 7 User Manual.

Important: Never remove the media whilst recording as this may cause data corruption.
